About HYDAC

HYCON, a leader in industrial filtration became a division of HYDAC in 1997. HYDAC stands for worldwide presence and accessibility to the customer, with over 1000 distributors worldwide and more than 30 wholly owned branches. HYDAC offers a complete range of hydraulic components from a single source. In addition to our extensive line of filters, HYDAC also manufactures industry leading accumulators, high pressure ball valves, flow control valves, cartridge valves, mounting components, electronic sensors, power units, coolers, and accessories. Custom solutions, and application assistance are also available.

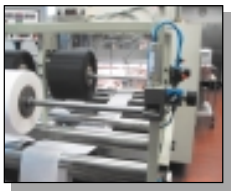

HYDAC Products

Our filter line includes simple pressure and return line filters, as well as more sophisticated models including reverse flow, duplex, modular stacking, suction boost, circuit protectors, bi-directional, and automatic backflushing. We manufacture high quality elements for all these models, as well as the interchange elements in this catalog that fit into our competitors' housings.

HYDAC Quality

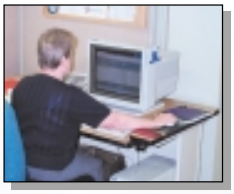

HYDAC stands for quality and customer satisfaction. Many HYDAC plants are certified to ISO 9001 and can supply products with certification if required. Currently the US headquarters in Bethlehem is in the process of becoming certified. To ensure that our products are as innovative as possible, they are developed, manufactured, and tested by qualified personnel, using advanced technology.

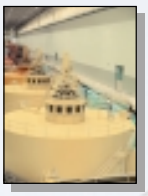

HYDAC Customer Service

Our internal staff and worldwide distribution network take care of the important matter of customer service. HYDAC values high standards, professional ethics, and mutual respect in all transactions with customers, vendors, and employees. We invest in our relationships by providing expertise, quality, dependability, and accessibility, to foster growth and a sense of partnership. Our customer service representatives are committed to serving the customers' needs.

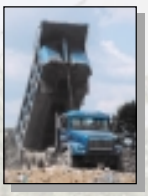

Energy and Environmental Technology

HYDAC Filters and elements can be found protecting power generation equipment all over the world. In addition to hydraulic and lube oil filtration, many power plants use the automatic backflushing filter for the fresh water supply.

Offshore and Marine Technology

Maritime technology places special demands on material functionality and reliability. HYDAC stainless steel housings meet these demands and withstand the harsh environmental conditions present in this industry.

Mobile Market

HYDAC has an extensive line of filters designed for mobile equipment. These designs are both compact and lightweight, while still offering the high performance required by modern hydraulic systems. Our Mobilmicron elements offer extremely low pressure drops, which helps eliminate bypass on cold start-ups.

Industrial Engineering

HYDAC filters are present in industrial plants, in lubrication and fluid power systems. Our range of products includes large return line models to handle high flow rates and provide large dirt holding capacities. These models are also available in selectable duplex styles to avoid the need for system shut-down during element changeout.

Process Technology

HYDAC offers a range of solutions for the high temperature and corrosive fluids found in process applications. Petro-chem plants worldwide provide examples of successful applications of HYDAC filtration products.

HYDAC QUALITY AND PERFORMANCE

HYDAC BETAFIT® Filter Elements are dimensionally similar to other manufacturer's elements and will fit interchangeably into their filter housings.

There are no claims regarding comparative performance characteristics as applied in actual system operation. In fact, all interchange elements vary greatly in performance and longevity in the systems in which they are applied.

HYDAC , a leader in the design of absolute-rated fiberglass filters, focuses on the optimization of the following characteristics:

- High efficiency for maximum system protection
- High dirt-holding capacity for long life and economy to the user
- Rugged construction for resistance to extreme dynamics in system pressure and fluid surge flow variations
- High quality, durable adhesive used to bond the endcaps to the media, and to bond the seam of the media
- High beta stability through the life of the element

HYDAC quality BETAFIT® Filter Elements are designed for high performance and long life.

PRICE AND VALUE

Initial cost is an important factor, so we price our BETAFIT® Filter Elements competitively. However, HYDAC recommends that careful consideration be given to the long-term cost savings resulting from elements having exceptional efficiency and dirt-holding capacity, thus, resulting in well controlled fluid cleanliness levels. When measured on the basis of performance to price, HYDAC products offer a superior value.

PROVEN PERFORMANCE & QUALITY MANUFACTURING

HYDAC designs, manufactures, and tests a large number of absolute-rated filter elements at our headquarter plant in Bethlehem, PA. Through active product development efforts, HYDAC, where quality is the standard, continually seeks to improve performance of existing elements and continues to expand our comprehensive line of element interchanges.

Recognizing that filters operate under harsh dynamic conditions and that system and component failures may be disastrous to your equipment, HYDAC follows strict Quality Control practices and maintains wide design safety margins in the manufacture and application of HYDAC products and services.

RANGE OF PRODUCTS

HYDAC provides a wide range of cartridge filter elements, spin-on elements, air-breathers, and suction strainers — and can interchange many filter elements made by competitive filter manufacturers.

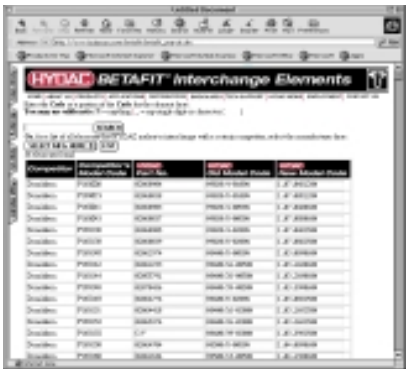

As a result, many companies find that converting to HYDAC BETAFIT® elements allow them to consolidate purchases, reduce inventory, and reduce system component replacement and maintenance costs, while enjoying superior performance.

AVAILABILITY

HYDAC stocking distributors, located throughout the U.S. and Canada, offer support with local inventory and selection assistance. HYDAC supports their distributors with an additional stock of BETAFIT® interchange elements, most of which are produced at the HYDAC plant in Bethlehem, PA. If our customers require support outside of North America, HYDAC will make arrangements through the worldwide distribution network of HYDAC Germany.

SELECTION PROCEDURE

To select a BETAFIT® interchange, one needs to determine their current filter manufacturer's element model code, and match it to the corresponding HYDAC model code in the pages that follow. Manufacturers are listed in alphabetical order. Your HYDAC distributor will be glad to review your current usage and recommend a suitable interchange.

The BETAFIT® interchange element information contained in this guide is furnished for the convenience of our customers and is as accurate as possible at the time of publishing. However, HYDAC makes no guarantee, either expressed or implied, to the accuracy of its interchange information. For critical applications, please consult HYDAC.
